

Duke of Edinburgh Expedition

The end of week 2 this term 31 intrepid Duke's students completed their first expedition into the wilds of metropolitan Sydney. It began with a training morning at school, dealing with map reading, safety and teamwork before plunging into the bush that surrounds our suburbs. The Bronze participants completed a 2 day walk and spent one night at Manly Dam reserve.

The expedition was yet again a great experience for everyone involved. Some comments from the students:

"I'm tiir-ed!"

"It's noodles, what're you having? Oh, it's noodles."

"Where did the teachers get that Thai food?"

"I love carry heavy packs – not."

"This is beautiful."

"Ned did WHAT???!!"

"Where's Nate?"

"WE MADE IT!"

"I'll be back!"

Thanks to the good-spirited students and to Ms Short, Ms Reid & Mr Collins.
